SALE OF EEL RIVER ROAD

CLOSING CHAPTER IN INTERESTING RAILROAD LITIGATION.

The Property Is Bought by Boston People for $1,000,000-Claims for Attorneys' Fees.

The sale of the Eel River Railroad in the depot at Logansport yesterday was one of the closing chapters in as interesting a bit of railroad litigation as has ever been carried through the courts of this State. The road was sold for $1,000,000 dollars to Elijah Smith, D. L. Quirk and W. W. Crapo, all of Boston, under an order of the Superior Court of Howard county, made by Judge Hiram Brownlee about a month ago. The sale was conducted by Receiver Ruddell, of Kokomo, who was represented by C. C. Shirley and Judge Milton Bell, attorneys, of Kokomo. Other counsel present were Attorney General William L. Taylor, representing the State, and John T. Dye and Charles A. Barrett, of Indianapolis, representing the successful bidders.

The case has attracted unusual attention State has secured a decree of forfeiture of a railroad's franchise because the company ownership of the property. In yesterday's sale the rolling stock and other equipment of the Eel River road was not sold because an inventory of it has not yet been secured from the Wabash, which has been operating the Eel River for the past twenty-one years as a part of its own line to Buffalo. The new owners of the road will, it is expected, form a company and operate the road, under a traffic agreement, so that the Wabash may continue its Eastern line from Kansas City to Buffalo unbroken, but the decree of the Howard County Superior Court requires them to operate the property on their own account and not transfer it to another company by lease or otherwise. The purchasers represented the old stockholders of the Eel River road, and were required to make a deposiof $50,000 in cash to bind the sale. The balance of the purchase price must be paid over when the receiver's report of the sale is confirmed by Judge Brownlee.

The claims for attorneys' fees, amounting to $92,000, filed by Winfield, Dykeman & Taber and McConnell & Jenkins, which were disallowed by Judge Brownlee, have been refiled in different form. Another turn in the famous litigation was taken last Saturday when stockholders of the former Eel River Railroad Company filed a claim in the Howard Superior Court, accompanied by allegations of fraud in a sale of the road made twenty-five years ago.

On the first appeal ers of the Eel River road, and the reversal of the case constituted one of the exceedingly few defeats that were encountered by that distinguished counsellor during his Word was received from Peru, last night, that railroad men in that city look upon the sale of the Eel River Railroad to the Boston men as being very favorable to the railroad interests of Peru. They are confident that a traffic arrangement will be effected by which the Wabash will not be disturbed in its use of the road.

ACTION OF BREWERS.

Practice of Setting Men Up in Business Will Be Abandoned.

A rule which will have much effect upon the business of selling liquor in Indiana was adopted here at the last meeting of nained a secret until yesterday. by furnishing places of business, ments from saloon keepers to sell but one make of beer. The practice of giving away costly knives and other articles for patron age will also be stopped. The effect of the new rule will not be known for some time. Many of the saloons now being run on the basis of the old plan will, it is said, no doubt be closed.

Receive Their Diplomas-List of Graduates.

The tenth commencement of the Indianapolis Manual Training High School at English's Opera House, last night, was atended by a large and appreciative audience. One hundred and two bright-faced boys and girls were presented with diplomas by Dr. George W. Sloan, president of the board of education, and the school days of the majority were ended.

The class, which was composed of about an equal number of boys and girls, occupied the entire stage, the white dresses of the latter making a pleasing contrast with the dark coats of their boy classmates. Each of the girls carried a handsome bouquet of flowers tied with a long red

Nearly half of those who were given diplomas last night completed the school course last January, but the commencemen exercises were postponed in order to have he whole class graduated at the same ime. The salutatory was delivered by Grace Hunter, of the June class, and the valedictory, by Leland Lowe, of the January class. The address of the evening was made by Charles R. Williams, his subject being 'Liberal Education and Life." In addressng the class at the close of his remarks, Mr. Williams said: "And so I come to my final thought. The liberally educated man s the man made free. In all the relations of life his influence should be toward making men freer-freer from all things that tend to bind or to bias their judgment; from an the things that hamper their activity or prevent the full and perfect development of their powers. And he should exercise this influence as a duty he owes to the world. Opportunity is obligation. A gift Power bears with it a mandate to use. Woe unto the man that hath power to sing if he sing not. What a man can do hat he must do on peril of his soul's death. If he fail of his task, the world will somehow get on. But he has lost his chance. He has cheated the eternal Father himself. #### ACCIDENT AT NEWBY OVAL.

Claude Williamson Injured in a Peculiar Way.

Claude Williamson, of 421 Harding street, while riding a bicycle yesterday at Newby Oval, met with a peculiar accident, and one which for a time puzzled Dr. Jacobs of the City Dispensary. Willis Coval was pacing on the track and in doing so caused a 'spill." Williamson went down with them. On the left arm appeared a lump under the appearance of a fractured bone, but it resisted the efforts of the doctor to pull it back into place. Williamson was taken to the City Dispensary and there it was discovered during the preparations for an operation, that a piece of wood about two inches long, a little larger than the ordinary lead pencil and blunt at both ends was embedded under the flesh, and next to the bone.

Trade is elected every year, but the ten new members of the governing committee, chosen annually, serve four years. The governing committee, according to custom, will met next Monday night to receive the new members and reorganize. The committee has forty members. This year it will be necessary for the committee to elect three members of the Board of Trade to fill the places on the committee made vacant when Messrs. Appel, Shaw and Perry were advanced to officers' billets. The secretary of the organization is elected by the governing committee. Jacob W. Smith has held the position for twelve years, and there is no doubt that he will be re-chosen. The election yesterday was one of the most interesting in the history of the Board last year 181 members elected the officers. The organization has 500 members, but more than a hundred of them are outside the city, and therefore, more than half the membership participated in yesterday's contest. There were four tickets in the field. Mr. Appel was on the independent ticket, and Messrs. Shaw and Perry were the regulars' candidates. Only three of the men chosen for the governing committee are new to the office-Messrs. Dissette, Mullins and Cooper; the others were reelected. Only once in the history of the Board of Trade has the president been elected to serve a second term-George G. Tanner was president during 1890 and 1891, The new president, John J. Appel, who takes the chair held last year by David M. Parry, is a member of the firm of Gregory & Appel, real estate and insurance agents, with offices at 131 East Market street. He is one of the best known business men of the city. Mr. Shaw, the new vice president, is president of Moore & Co., pork packers, and manager of the local plant of Kingan & Co. Mr. Perry, elected treasurer, is an agent for fire insurance companies and also represents the Northwestern Miller, His office is in the Board of Trade building.

made all recommendations for changes in the fourth-class postoffices in the four the exception of Steuben county, very few changes have been recommended. In Steuben county a resolution was adopted by the Republicans in convention some time ago providing that all four-year offices in the county should be limited to one term. At the suggestion of leading Republicans this resolution was made to apply to the fourthclass postoffices, and this resulted in many changes. The principal changes recommended for that county are as follows:

Orland-Dan G. Stuck, vice W. J. Case. Ray-Ivan Leard, vice D. M. Leard. Fremont-Joshua Albright, vice Clyde Hamilton-Cyrus B. Dirrim, vice E. E. Pleasant Lake-I. B. Smith, vice Frank Ashley-Lester C. Hunt, vice Jacob W Mintzer. Hudson-Samuel Ferguson, vice John H.

In most of the other counties the changes have already been made. No changes were recommended for Knox. Martin and Owen mended for Monroe county; two were recommended for Sullivan county and three for Daviess county. The postoffice appointments in Whitley county have not yet been settled, but the matter will be disposed of very soon. It is expected that few changes will be made in this county. The record of the fourth-class postoffices in Indiana is unusually good, it is declared, and the Postoffice Department has been unwilling to make more changes than are absolutely

EXCITING EXPERIENCE.

Attempting to Pass a Counterfeit Bill.

Secret Service Officer Halls yesterday had an exciting experience with a young man terfeit money. The man was Fred Cook who lives at Martindale avenue and Thirtyfirst street. Yesterday morning Cook went purchase a gallon of whisky. He remarked that he had some colored men working for him and he believed he could get bette work out of them by aid of liquor. Cook produced a bill in payment for the whisky. Schwartz saw that it was a $10 bill, but it did not look like genuine money a pair of blue overalls and a black soft to him and he expressed some doubt to Cook. It was suggested that they go out and exhibit the bill to some one else. They wound up at the Indiana National Bank, where Schwartz led his customer, and there Secret Service Officer Halls joined them, having been summoned by telephone. Halis attempted to take Cook in charge, but the latter dashed out of the bank and started south on Pennsylvania street. Halls drew his pistol, but decided it would be unwise to shoot on account of the number of people in the street at the time. The fleeing fugitive caused considerable excitement and finally one man threw out his foot as Cook passed along and tripped him. His capture was then easy enough and Halls took him in. He was taken before United States Commissioner Moores, and in default of $500 bail was sent to jail. On the way to the jail Cook turned to Board of Trade, held yesterday, resulted Deputy United States Marshal Boyd and asked: "Will they let a man out to go to a funeral?" Boyd said he believed they would and asked what funeral Cook referred to. "If my wife hears of this she will die, said Cook, "and I want to go to her
